

The Wisconsin system works great. No more calls when I just sit down to supper. No more silence at the other end or one ring and stop with the automated systems. If I want any of the products businesses are trying to telemarket I will contact them and that's the way it should be. Do not change a system that works just because telemarketing businesses are complaining. It is unfair to burden citizens with unsolicited marketers. Keep the system Wisconsin and its residents have developed.
